Laboratory Information and Sample Management software supporting you in your next discovery

Achiever Medical gives you all the benefits and functionality you'd expect from a sample management system and more!

Know where your samples are, where they came from and what's happened to them. Crucially, every action is automatically audited for compliance with the Human Tissue Act (HTA).

Rather than waiting for auditors to visit, use our auditing functionality to proactively carry out your own random internal audits; making quality an integral part of your every day operations.

Help your researchers focus their efforts by capturing donor profile, informed consent, diagnosis (using industry standard WHO or ICD codes) and disease information.

We don't believe in reinventing the wheel. Use our 'out-of-the-box' workflows to standardise your sample processes to ensure you capture essential data at the right time.
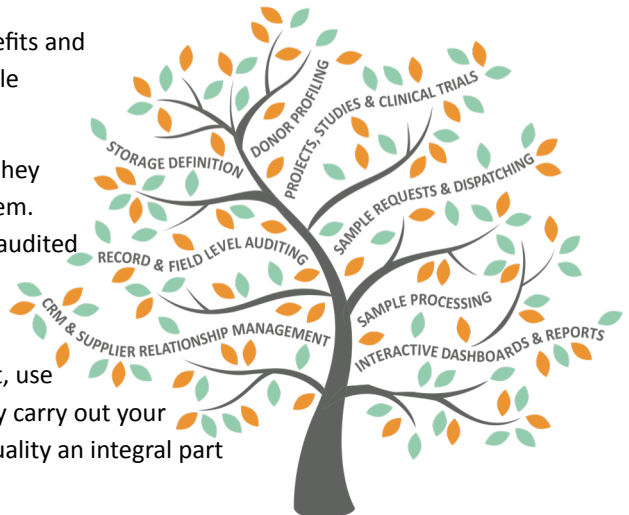

Your data is protected!
Our unique rules-based data encryption and project-role based security gives you enhanced protection from internal and external security breaches. Additionally, our data protection options help you meet GDPR.

New teams, processes or data to capture? - No problem!
With some of our customers successfully using Achiever Medical to run their labs for more than 10 years, our systems don't just help you do what you do today, but well into the future.

Use our 'point-and-click' configuration tools to add new fields, workflows and screens at any time. Your new fields are automatically available for searching and can be encrypted.

Delivering value and return on investment

We don't stand still.

Committed to continuous product development, we take advantage of the latest technology and regularly introduce new functionality and modules.

Our recently released UKCRC Tissue Directory integration module can save you hours publishing your samples to the online directory. It takes place automatically in the background to ensure your sample inventory is up-to-date.

Plus with Achiever Medical you can see the benefits!

Integration with the powerful and popular DevExpress$^{©}$ framework provides real-time interactive dashboards to give you valuable insight. Create new dashboards in minutes!

"The Achiever DevExpress$^{©}$ dashboards are so simple and quick to set up. They just work! We are saving at least 3 hours a week just in our report production!"
